Dear Howie,

Well friends, we have a new president, we are in a new year, snow is coming this week, and we feel very fortunate to be apart of it all. Howie's life is in a tizzy as he travels from Washington to Utah, back to California, and then to Canada all this month! Neil has been working hard saving people on June Mountain (he works as a ski patroller there), setting up our backcountry ski partnership with them, and being a good dad to his twins! We got a little rain and a little snow yesterday in Mammoth and June Lake and should get more this weekend. Temperatures are supposed to drop through the weekend so hopefully we get a little more snow than rain. Quite frankly, we are just happy to see something coming
