Spring Climbing in Red Rock!

May 16-20, 2008

Dear Howie,

We can't help ourselves! We want to make sure that everyone knows we're heading to Red Rock in the middle of May. Most of you have already heard and some have inquired about courses and climbs there. So think of this as more of a reminder.

Conditions in Red Rock!

It always seems like something magical happens around the middle of May in Red Rock Canyon. The weather stays great, getting marginally warmer as the days progress towards summer but the crowds virtually disappear! It seems that when folks think May-in-Red-Rocks, they think heat and sun. We don't quite understand it, but it works out in our favor. Come join us on shady crag-climbing or multi-pitches or even breezy adventure climbs deep in the spectacular canyons.

The Nitty Gritty

We'll be in Vegas and Red Rocks May 16-20 and in the spirit of the city, anything goes. For instance:

- Come for a day, come for the week or anything in between.
- Have a long-standing goal on the Black Velvet Wall (Epinephrine anyone?), let's do it.
- Red Rock has countless multi-pitch climbs of all difficulty levels and lengths- you pick or we'll pick.
- Wanna polish up your skills before the summer? The crags and canyons of Red Rock are a perfect venue for any of our climbing skills courses.

Logistics will be easy and flexible:

- We'll have a comfy basecamp and can provide camping equipment for those of you coming from out of town.
- We'll can pick you up at the airport to save you renting a car.
- If a plush casino room is more your style, we'll meet up with you there on our climbing mornings.
- Give us a call, you never know what might work out!
- Again, the dates are: May 16-20. We'll be back in the fall too: October 24-28.

Sincerely,

All of us at
